

 Bisbell

Celebrating over 50 years of magnetic innovation

1 Introduction

We know a thing or two about knife storage. We were the first to bring the magnetic knife rack to market after all!

It all started in the late 1960s after Messrs Bishop & Bell of Bisbell Engineering Ltd experimented with and patented the use of magnets in the welding processes they were known for. Within three years the business was purchased by the current family owners and magnets quickly became the company's bread and butter. The world's first magnetic kitchen storage rack went on sale in 1977.

A great deal has changed in the past 40 years. Although countless other magnetic storage systems exist in the market, our dedication to exceptional quality, reliability and strength keeps uncompromising chefs and seasoned cooks coming back for more.

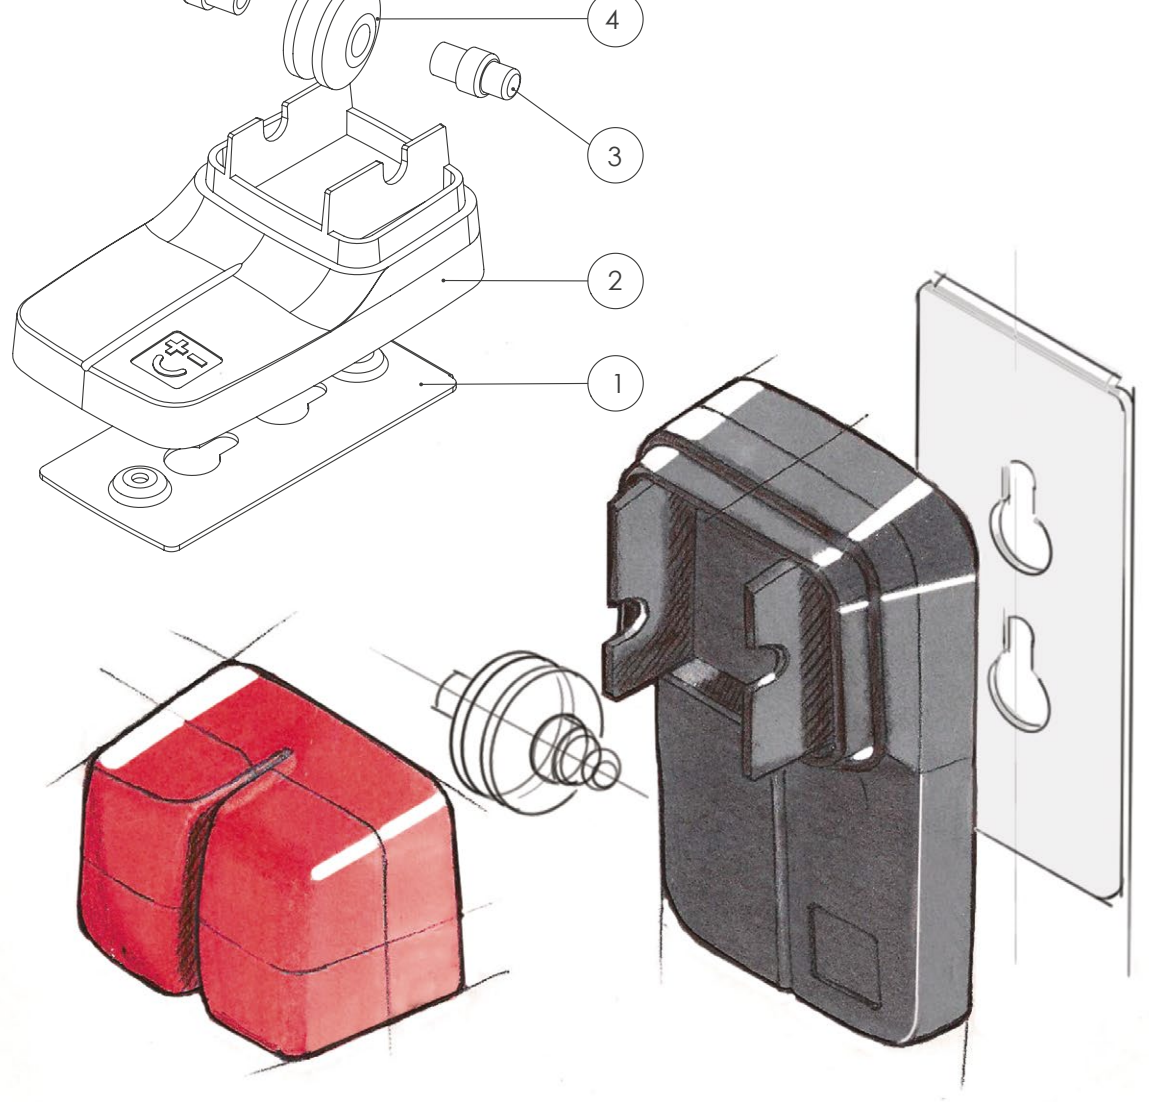

Attraction by Design

As the European market leader for magnetic knife racks we pride ourselves on our commitment to UK manufacture and product development, good design staying at the heart of everything we do.

But we're about more than just knife racks. Our in-house team takes on the challenge of constantly innovating with new applications for magnetic products on a daily basis. Many months spent designing, testing and improving on the work of four decades of magnetic innovation has resulted in a wide selection of complementary kitchen accessories.

From the award-winning Magmates™ magnetic blade guard, to a range of coordinated knife rack accessories, you'll always find something new at Bisbell.

BMPPBGB-01

We revolutionized the knife storage market in 2008 with the launch of the patented Magmates™ Magnetic Blade Guard. The concept has gone from strength to strength, and this year Bisbell are pleased to launch a new range of PVC free, highly durable blade guards perfect for the most demanding of environments.

Our signature blade guards have been revamped with a cool new look and a durable polypropylene construction.

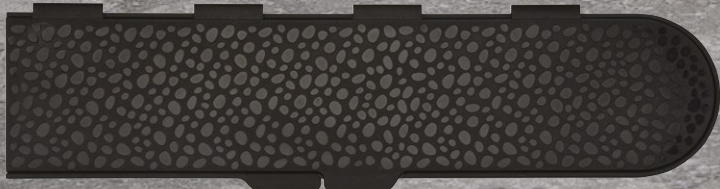

- Protect you and your knives in storage and transport
